Punjab's biggest isolation facility established at CU

CHANDIGARH, APRIL 8
Chandigarh University (CU) in association with District Administration, Mohali, has established Punjab's largest Covid-19 isolation facility under its CU-AID initiative near its campus in Gharuan. Giving details, Chancellor Satnam Singh Sandhu said, "We have prepared CU-Isolation facility under the guidance of Punjab Government. It comprises of 1,000-bed quarantine facility, 200-bed medical centre, OPD for patients, protection kits including face masks patients".

He said, "The facility has round-the-clock medical team comprising doctors, 50 paramedical staff and 24x7 ambulance facility to shift the patients. It has all the basic medical facilities, oxygen cylinders and other bio-medical equipment. The quarantine facility can be further scaled up for 5,000 patients in a few days in case of emergency and if the requirement of administration increases".

Mohali Deputy Commissioner Girish Dayalan said, the CU-isolation facility is part of the government's contingency plan to prepare isolation facilities well in advance so that in case the number of infected cases rises, the administration can take care to isolate them with quickest response time.

Himanshu Jain, SDM, Kharar, inspected the isolation facility along with his team and had a look at the preparations made by the university. "We have inspected the CU-Isolation facility at Gharuan and found that every emergency facility required for the Covid-19 patients is in place which includes ICU units, medicines, PPE kits for the medical team and ambulance facility to shift the patients" said Himanshu Jain, SDM, Kharar. — TNS
